NEWS SUMMARY.

—Gold in New York nominally 31 to 32.
 —The New York cotton market was heavy and lower. Sales 20,000 bales at 23 1/2.
 —At Liverpool cotton was firm. Uplands 12 1/2 to 13 1/2. Orleans 12 1/2 to 13 1/2. Sales 10,000 bales.
 —Mr. George Peabody has determined to visit Europe again, and will sail in the steamer Scotia from New York, next week.
 —The Richmond (Va.) Whig comes out with a semi-fanciful nomination of Horace Greoley for United States Senator from Virginia.
 —The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has voted in favor of a postal telegraph system, and requested the congressional delegation to vote for it.

—The cashier of the National Exchange Bank at Providence, Rhode Island, has been arrested and held to bail to answer for a defalcation in his accounts of, so far as discovered, $25,000.

—The foreign importations at the port of New York during last week were about four millions and a half—a marked falling off, compared with the average of the month or for six weeks past.

—The United States Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, in session at San Francisco, has postponed consideration of the amendment to the constitution of the Order changing the title of the Grand Lodge, until the next session.

—There was a rush on the banks of San Francisco, Saturday, for gold telegraphic transfers, in consequence of the advance in gold at New York. The banks refused to sell at any price, and the exorbitant charges charged five per cent. to transport gold.

—A German opera company has been formed in New York under the management of Mr. H. Grau, and opened at the Stadt Theatre on Friday evening with a performance of the "Maggio Flute." The company includes Messieurs Botter, Frederici, and Johannsen, and Messrs. Himmer, Hermanns, Fumes, and Weinhold.

—Members of Hill's expedition in search of Sir John Franklin have reached Norwich, Connecticut, on their return; and report having found a number of articles belonging to Sir John Franklin, besides skeletons. A native was encountered who claimed to know all about Franklin's fate—said the ship was stove, the crew took to their boats, went ashore, and all died of starvation.

—The colored people of Saratoga are indignant that the proprietors of the Congress and Empire Springs companies intend to drink water from green glasses, while white visitors are permitted to use tumblers of the ordinary color. They have held a meeting on the subject, and appointed a committee to confer with the hotel proprietors, and endeavor to induce them to rescind "this act of injustice and oppression."

—In response to inquiries, the chairman of the Avondale Relief Fund Committee, at Wilkesbarre, Pa., publishes in detail the mode of distribution decided upon. The entire funds received are to be appropriated solely for the relief of the Avondale sufferers. Forty thousand dollars, or one-fifth of the entire amount, estimating it at $200,000—are to be distributed this year, giving two hundred dollars to each widow, and one hundred dollars to each orphan. The remainder is to constitute a permanent fund for the relief of the Avondale sufferers, and the remaining two-thirds for the latter. From each of the funds the respective classes will secure each annual quarterly allowance as is deemed sufficient for comfortable support. The funds are to be immediately vested in good securities that may be readily converted into cash.

—There was quite an exciting scene at Glen's Falls, New York, the other evening, caused by the escape from its cage of a Bengal tiger, which belonged to Campbell's Menagerie, then exhibiting in the village. The "wildcat" late at night discovered that one of the elephants had broken loose, and had upon the tiger's cage, breaking the door and letting the animal escape. The keepers were aroused, and a large crowd of persons collected and joined in the pursuit. The tiger was found crouching over a dying hare which it had stricken down, and was greedily lapping the blood which exuded from a wound in the animal's neck. One of the keepers improvised two lariats from a coil of rope and succeeded in throwing them over the tiger's head; the ends of these were held by persons standing in opposite directions, thus preventing the beast from approaching anybody, and with some difficulty he was returned to his cage.

—An inventor of Springfield, Mass., is about testing the plan of furnishing hot air for dwellings through pipes laid in the streets. It is proposed to force air rapidly through a coil or series of iron pipes heated in a furnace, and then through a greater length of pipe outside, made of fire-clay, which is claimed to be about the best non-conductor that can be had. The first trial will be a pump of a 2-inch diameter and eight-inch stroke, and the air pipes, now making in at this city, will be 500 feet in length and of a four-inch bore, with a thermometer at each end, which will indicate the temperature. The projector expects to lose the air in the iron pipes to that temperature, and force it to the furnace and with little loss. If the pipes are laid in the streets it will be necessary to have them enclosed in a brick arch, lined with mortar made of the clay. It is contended, if the thing works according to the expectation of the projector, that but a small portion of the coal now used will be necessary for all heating and cooking purposes, which will be a great thing for these days of high prices of fuel.

—Dispatched from Jackson, Miss., dated September 23d, mention the discovery of a recent plot to effect the release of Colonel V. M. Yerger, held in military custody on the charge of murdering Colonel Owens, late Major-General Jackson, and military appointments. Two corporals and seven privates of the 10th Regt. were said, were arrested, and were with outside parties to effect the release of Yerger, and it is charged that the conspirators were of the colored race, and were of the 10th Regt.

CHARLESTON.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 29, 1869.

The Payment of the State Taxes.

An official circular from Mr. Reuben Tomlinson, the State Auditor, extending the time for the collection of State taxes to the 15th of October will be published on Friday next. This relief will be welcome to all classes of our taxpaying people, and especially to those who are unable, whatever their willingness, to pay their taxes until the business season is fairly begun, and an opportunity has been given them of sending their crops to market.

It is understood that for the year ending September 1, 1869, there will be no new assessment of real property, which will be assessed according to the valuation completed some months ago. The injustice and inequality of the assessment, manipulated as it was by the State Board of Equalization, has already been exposed in the columns of every anti-Radical paper in the State. Whether we be willing or unwilling, taxation upon this basis must be borne for one year more, and our people who have not yet completed the payment of their taxes for the year ending September 1, 1868, will be called on to pay by March next the State taxes for the year ending September 1, 1869. In this way two millions of dollars for State taxes alone will have to be paid by our people in less than nine months. Many persons cannot meet these demands upon them. Their lands and houses will go to the hammer; but they and the men who, by straining and striving, can pay their taxes at the appointed time, will find, in the drain to which they are exposed, an argument against Radical rule more solid and potent than all the denunciations of the theoretical politician.

Some time ago it was shown in this paper that, according to the apparent letter of the law, the payment of the State taxes for 1868 could not be enforced until March, 1870. This point is well put by our contemporary, the Courier, in a recent article; but we cannot advise the taxpayers of the State to endeavor to postpone, by litigation, the fulfillment of their tax obligations. The different counties have paid as promptly as they could the taxes assessed upon them. There is no talk of legal or muscular resistance to the law as construed by the State officials. Where the taxes are unpaid, it is because the taxpayers have been unable or have had no opportunity of paying them; and at this late day it would ill become us to go into the courts for a redress that may most surely be obtained in the great court, whose jury is the people of the State. What we have to do is to pay the State taxes as well as we may, and to remember, whenever the shoe pinches, that and only remedy for all our grievances is an anti-Radical victory in the elections of the coming year.

The Gold Gambling on Black Friday.

An Associated Press telegram, published this morning, contains the rather startling news that the Bank of New York has consented to act as the clearing house for the gold transactions of Black Friday on the basis of 135 for gold. This, if true, can only mean that the gold inflation of Friday last is very properly regarded as a sheer swindle, and that an arbitrary rate has been fixed at which a settlement must be made of all the transactions of the day. It is evident that only a little legitimate business was transacted. While one bold bull was yelling for gold at 150, others, more bold, were offering 155 and 160. There was no more regularity in the quotations than there is in the fall of a die; and while the ring were offering to buy millions at twenty and thirty per cent. more than its actual value, they who had small parcels of the coin to sell found it difficult to obtain a purchaser. The whole operation was an attempt to gamble on a huge scale at the cost of the trade and commerce of the country. The gold gamblers did more than risk their own fortunes. By their unscrupulous maneuvering they damaged our whole mercantile system; and until the balance has been struck, and the wreck cleared away, it will be difficult to effect the simplest mercantile transaction. Foreign exchange has been unobtainable for some days, and the Gold Board may rely on having the hearty support of the mercantile community in any measures which may be necessary to mark their reprobation of one of the grandest frauds of the age. Gold gambling as it was carried on in New York last week is a grave public crime, and whatever the laxity of Wall street morality, we are led to hope that both bulls and bears will now be taught a lesson that they will not soon forget.

As we said before, the public demand an immediate settlement of the transactions of Friday, and there is some reason for believing that the very excess of the evil under which we labor may be the means of preventing a recurrence of similar troubles in the future. Gambling in gold, perhaps, be prevented by legislative enactment; but a contemplation of our hazardous monetary condition, and of the dispiriting power of a ring of greedy capitalists, may lead the people to work more steadily for a return to a stable and uniform currency.

Since the above was in type we learn, by later telegrams, that the Bank of New York has declined to act as a clearing house, and that the disinterested bulls and bears are more equally discomfited by the dealing about for some other adjustment of their troubles.
